You said:

Guide me in building a Django-based e-commerce application that recommends the most suitable shipping boxes for customer orders.

ChatGPT said:

You said:

How can I resolve the issue where customers are redirected to the warehouse dashboard instead of their intended page after logging in?

ChatGPT said:

You said:

Explain how Django handles user authentication, login redirection, and the use of authentication decorators in views.

ChatGPT said:

You said:

How can I enhance the design, layout, and functionality of the warehouse dashboard and shipping box recommendation pages in my Django application?

ChatGPT said:

You said:

Implemented separate login and authentication processes for customers and packaging staff.

ChatGPT said:

You said:

Configured the customer login system to redirect users to the product listing page after successful authentication.

ChatGPT said:

You said:

Created HTML login forms with input fields for users to enter their username and password.

ChatGPT said: